CRIMINAL JUSTICE
About RMIT University
RMIT University is one of Australia’s original and leading educational institutions, producing some of Australia’s most employable graduates. As an innovative, global university of technology, with its heart in the city of Melbourne, RMIT has an international reputation for excellence in work-relevant education and high-quality research, and engagement with the needs of industry and community.

With more than 60,000 students studying at RMIT campuses in Melbourne and regional Victoria, in Vietnam, online, by distance education, and at partner institutions throughout the world, the University is one of the largest in the country. It has built a worldwide reputation for excellence in professional and vocational education and research. A vibrant alumni community stretches across more than 100 countries.

Program information
The Bachelor of Arts (Criminal Justice Administration) degree is the leading educational program in the criminal justice sector. It is located in the School of Global Studies, Social Science and Planning and consistently attracts one of the largest number of first and overall preferences in the entire University.

These professional and advanced certificate programs in Criminal Justice Administration are a non-award adjunct to the prestigious Bachelor of Arts (Criminal Justice Administration) and are highly regarded in the criminal justice field.

They provide education, professional development and enhance career skills for those intending to work in fields related to criminal justice including, but not limited to, police, corrections, health and community services, juvenile justice, courts administration, security and criminological research.

Both certificates are commercial training programs conducted through RMIT Training Pty Ltd, the corporate arm of RMIT University.

For whom is the program designed?
These professional and advanced certificate programs aim to provide career preparation for people occupying, or aspiring to occupy, middle and higher levels of management in fields associated with criminal justice administration.

Participants will develop:
- An understanding of the criminal justice system and its relationship to other social services, government and community.
- An understanding of professional activities in the criminal justice field.
- An understanding of the theories on which criminal justice administration is based and the ability to critically analyse systems and practices.
- An understanding and knowledge of administrative and managerial principles and strategies, as well as refining techniques of policy and procedural development.
